PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY
ON CHRIST'S COMING

BY F. A. COFFIN

The most brilliant display of fireworks the world ever has seen, the most beautiful electrical exhibition ever given, and even the glory of the sun are insignificant compared with the wonderful spectacle the world will see when Christ returns from heaven, a companion by hundreds of millions of angels being, according to Elder J. E. Bond, president of the Arizona Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, the described to a large audience in the big tent at Sixth avenue and Washington streets last night, the appearing of Christ.

"Not in some desert place, nor in a secret chamber, nor to individuals at death, will Christ appear," said the speaker. "For Acts 1:3-11 tells us that Jesus is to return in the same manner as he ascended to heaven. He was parted from the disciples as they looked on, and moving upward into the heavens, a cloud received him out of their sight. At his return, first a cloud will be seen. As it draws nearer the earth it will be seen that it is composed of myriads of angels. As it draws still nearer, the King himself can be seen.

"In Matthew 28:1-5 the glory of one angel is described. Revealed to men this great light caused the Roman guard to fall unconscious to the earth. When Christ comes in the glory of angels numbering ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands, in the glory of the God of the universe, and in his own glory, none but those who have made their peace with him will be physically able to endure the sight.

"The object of the angels' coming with him is told in Matthew 24:31, where we are told: 'He shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.' Then will the dead be raised to life.

"When may we look for this wonderful event? Luke 21:25 tells us: 'There shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth.' Luke adds the statement that 'then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.' The signs in the sun, moon and stars appeared years ago. Distress of nations, and fear for the future are seen on every hand today.

"The Bible holds out to us no hope that Christ will at this time rule upon the earth, or that men will convert armament into agricultural instruments. This expectancy is a false hope. But the hope held out to the Christian is the promise of Christ in John 14:1-3. Let not your heart be troubled; I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to myself, that where I am, there you may be also. Christ will take his people to be with him in heaven, there to live for 1000 years.

Elder C. D. Williams spoke at the radio-ground yesterday afternoon. Sabbath school was held yesterday morning, being followed by a revival service, conducted by Elder J. L. McElhenny of Oakland. Two-thirds of the congregation expressed a determination to live a sincere Christian life in every respect.

"Turkey—What Its Downfall Means to the World" will be the subject of Elder McElhenny at 7:30 tonight. Stereoscopic views will be shown at 7 o'clock. The meetings will continue daily this week.

SHAW ATTACKS WILSON

LONGMONT, Colo., Oct. 12.—Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, in an address here tonight, charged President Wilson with taking advantage of "sectionalism" and profiting by "the facts which revise the January 1, all that was necessary to do was to address a letter to the secretary of state. And judging from the enthusiasm which met this remark, it is safe to say that Ray will contribute more than its share toward this accomplishment.

Norman J. McKeezie, candidate for state mine inspector and J. Harry Cloonan, candidate for corporation commissioner, also made short addresses, reviewing their long experience that eminently qualify them for the positions they are seeking.

H. G. Richardson, candidate for county attorney, and Paul county agent as chairman of the meeting. He is the incumbent of this office and was, for several years a resident of this city, where he is most favorably known. Chester A. McGee, candidate for sheriff, J. G. Kelley, candidate for supervisor and Mrs. Ben Wilson, for school superintendent, were also on the rostrum.

issue of sectionalism," condemned by the president at Indianapolis yesterday. "All through the south one hears it freely said 'the south has come into its own,'" he declared. "If he thinks the man who revives the issue of sectionalism unworthy of confidence, what does he think of the men who are responsible for the facts which establish it?"

CARRIER BOY

Found in an unconscious state on the McDowell road yesterday morning and unable to give an accurate account of the accident, Marlon Gregg, a 15-year-old carrier of "The Republican," was brought to town by E. L. Graves, who happened to be passing. The boy remained in a state of coma all day. The only apparent injury is a bruise on the left arm that does not appear serious. Whether or not there are internal injuries the physicians did not state.

The only statement relative to the accident made by the lad to Mr. Graves was "someone hit me." He then relapsed into unconsciousness.

Mr. Graves, accompanied by Dr. Bishop and his son, "Easter" Graves, were motoring to town from Scottsdale about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. As they approached the Creighton school on the McDowell road they saw the figure of a boy stretched out on the left side of the road, his bicycle over his body. Although the pulse action was good, the body was limp and the passerby worked for over half an hour on the boy before he showed any signs of regaining consciousness. Mr. Graves said that he believed the boy was dead many times during the long moments they sought to revive him. Only once he raised his head and that was to say "Someone hit me," but beyond that he knew nothing, nor later in the day was he able to give any other helpful information. The chain was off his bicycle and the seat slightly twisted, but otherwise the wheel was in good condition.

On arriving in town the boy's mother, Mrs. O. A. Gregg, of the alteration department of a downtown shop, was notified and did not leave her son's bedside the remainder of the day. From their home, 709 North Second street, word came last evening that there was no change in Marlon's condition.

The boy was on his way to Scottsdale to pass the day with a chum, according to his mother's statement. She said she was completely in the dark as to how the accident happened, nor would she make any surmise until her son was able to tell her the story. Many believe that the boy was hit by a passing automobile, whose driver left the victim lying in the road apparently dead.

Why Neglect It?

We venture to say that there is no one vital duty that confronts a man that he puts off, neglects or considers immaterial, than the duty of making a Will and making it in time—when he is in full possession of all his faculties and in good health.

Making a Will is not a trivial thing—it is far reaching and vital in its effects on those whom you hold most dear and to whom you owe your first duty—your wife and children. Then why do men neglect making their Wills? It is not explainable, but it is nevertheless true.

What is YOUR reason? Have you studied the question? Have you thought out what you would like to do with your property? Have you then gotten actual first hand information whether what you would like to do squares with the law of descent and distribution of property? Have you then learned that only by Will can you change that law? Making deeds to your wife, or holding property in joint names are only risky subterfuges—the only safe way is by Will.

We will cheerfully and confidentially advise with you on all these matters—entirely without charge or obligation.

FIVE HUNDRED HEAR
J. H. KIBBEY AT RAY

(Special Correspondence)
RAY, Ariz., Oct. 14.—More than 500 men and women heard Governor J. H. Kibbey, republican candidate for United States senator, tell them of the vital campaign issues here at a monster open air meeting while they cheered him vociferously. Governor Kibbey, well known here, has completely captured Ray, just as Tom Campbell did two weeks ago.

"The San Francisco peaks are not a campaign issue with me, but I promise you, in event I am elected, that I will see that those majestic peaks remain in the same place that nature put them. They will not, however, be made an issue in the senate chambers. I will devote my time to working for the best interests of the people and the state of Arizona. I will spend my time in the committee rooms where the work is accomplished and not in making long and tiresome address to empty seats."

Governor Kibbey again dropped his cloak of reserve and told of the beneficial accomplishments he has performed for the people of this state during the past 25 years. Many old time residents of Arizona in the audience who know Governor Kibbey, lead the applause when he reviewed his labors in behalf of the people. His address was eloquent and his large audience was appreciative.

Joe V. Prochaska, candidate for secretary of state, told the crowd that in order to reach him after
